Deskripsi Mata Kuliah	This course will equip students with the theories and practices in translating literary works. As expressive texts, literary works have unique characteristics compared to other type of texts, thus they should be translated using specific translation strategies. Literary translation requires not only translation knowledge and skills, but also knowledge on literature and literary texts. To help the students understand literary translation well, this course will explore some examples of literary translation: short stories, short dramas and poems, prior to the hands-on literary translation practices.

Deskripsi Mata Kuliah	"This course equips the students with knowledge and practices to write fiction, especially short story. The materials comprise generating ideas, characters and characterization, setting, plot, and point of view of narration. Various activities such as lectures, discussion, writing workshops, and presentation are conducted to give practices of outlining, writing fiction drafts, and editing. At the end of the semester, students are expected to have a short story of 1500 – 2500 words and to hold a mini seminar where each of them read their stories aloud, present the exegesis of the creative work, and discuss them with limited audience."
